In another instance a family by the name of Giperic came down the current on the roof of a frame house, screaming for help, but no one could lend a helping hand, as it seemed every one had all they could do to save their own lives. The building, with its precious freight, moved on until it reached O'Hara street, when the skiff " Baby Annie," in the hands of the Duquesne Boat Club, went to the rescue, and succeeded in saving Mr. Giperic, his wife and child, an infant nine days old.

A HEROIC ACT.

Mr. Sample, who had been out in the yard and saw the coming water, went into the house and told his wife that they must leave or be drowned. Suddenly the water began to rise, and in a few minutes it was three or and they had a double loss to mourn, that four feet high. Mrs. Sample told her husband to take the baby and she would follow. Mr. Sample was detained but a few seconds in getting the child, but so rapidly had the stream swollen that the water was over his head by the time he had stepped down from the threshold. He fell three times in his vain efforts to stem the raging torrent, and he and the child would both undoubtedly have found their death in the waters but for the heroism of John Stoby and a man named Paxon, who, regardless of the danger arctotore absorbed attention, and to which they exposed themselves, rushed in several points in the suburbs here- and saved them. IN ALLEGHENY CITY.

Tuesday Mayor Fleming had ordered, by proclamation, that business be suspended during the time that the funerals were to take cessary one, for the general tone of sorrow that prevailed prevented any being done, and nearly all business, during most of the day, was entirely suspended, and especially was this notable between 2 and 4 e'clock when the funerals of a large proportion of the drowned victims took place. All was quiet save the tolling of the bells, which told their own story of misery, death, and bereavement, and the surging, pitying crowd that passed to and fro on the streets.

There is believed to be no prospect of any undesirable disturbance of the gold or exchange market in this country by the negotiation, but that it will have a wholesome effect is the firm belief of many financiers. The sale of the greater part of the loan to foreign capitalists will help to keep in the country a large surplus of gold, and thus facilitate, perhaps, the day of specie payments, which the president and the secretary look forward to with so much hope.

It is suggested in this connection by the New York Times, that "those who have so earnestly advocated that the entire loan should be let to home-bidders, seem to have overlooked the fact that what is called the five per cent loan is, in point of fact, not a every dollar of the new bonds which are issued, a dollar of the outstanding five-twenties must be called in. A general uprising of the negroes under Caobo is daily expected. The Cubans have captured several maps of the Trocha, which show the position of the forts, pit-falls, picket-stations, &c.

THE TOBACCO MARKET AS REPORTED BY THE NEW YORK TOBACCO LEAF,

Virginia Leaf .- The warket has undergone little or no change since our last review, sales continuing in full volume, but attended with no appreciable increase of excitement. What has been considered hitherto a speculative movement entirely, has now settled down into a brisk and steady trade with legitimate buyers, as well as with those who are bought, we are informed, dute intermy during the week just closed. On the whole it is probable the general leaf market has been strengthened this week by our own published and my private advices from Europe, which go to show that in all the leading European markets calculations and preparations are being made for higher release, advances having already here realized in tions and preparations are often made for indexe prices, advances having already been realized in some instances. All the prominent symptoms and features witnessed here during the past mouth have been observable there, and notably so in London, Liverpool, and Bremen, where not only demand has been quickened and prices increased, but tobicco has been withdrawn from the market, the tobicco has been withdrawn from the market, the latter event occurring in London, quite early, too, in the current month. The possession of large stocks does not appear to be considered on the other side of the Atlantic any more than on this side a sufficient guaranty of a continuance of a moderate range of prices in the face of the prospects of a diminished yield from the present crop of Western tobacco. Un the contrary, the trade there seems to have pretty nearly reached the conclusion that a higher range of prices for this class of tobacc, is inevitable, and they are shaping their course accordingly. The stock of American hogshead tobacco in Liverpool on July 4, according to the report of our correstock of American hogshead tooaceo in Inverpool on July 4, according to the report of our correspondents, F. W. smythe & Co., of that city, was 22,986 hogsheads, 14,635 hogsheads at the same time last year, and yet, notwithstanding this excess of stock and the low prices previously prevailing, that firm was enabled to write on that date these words: "Since 1st instant our market has responded in some degree to the advance on your side beyond the anticipations expressed by us in the report of that date, and sales have been made at prices better than recently they have been made at prices better than recently they have been and fortunately for shippers, we can to-day obtain for their tooacco the valuations given in September last, where our practical figures were much higher."

The prevaient feeling here is that while the late rains have been of incalculable benefit to the growbraced all available soris, and among other trans-ters we hear of the sale of a fair lot of lucs. Briefly described, the market, in the language of a dealer, is thus exhibited: "Things are about the same as last reported by you. The market is active—that is, the local trade is active—jobbers are surjus, and sales are equal to receipts. There is very little Virginia tobacco here."
